

To be a part of this exciting project,
to volunteer, or to learn more, email
botanicalgarden@annistonmuseum.org

Preview the “before” and learn the possibilities of the “after” on Sunday, October 10, 2010, 2-4PM.

Help us develop this exciting next phase of Anniston Museum Complex—and spread the word!

A project of
Anniston Museum of Natural History

Cheryl Bragg, Museum Complex Director
Paula Watkins, Chairperson, Museum Board
Ronnie Smith, President, Endowment Corp
Lesa Cummings, President, Museum League

PO Box 1587, Anniston, AL 36202
256-237-6766

PO Box 1587 Anniston, AL 36202

LONGLEAF
BOTANICAL GARDENS
A Project of Anniston Museum of Natural History

Gathering

Sunday, October 10, 2010, 2PM

Lenlock Community Center—at the crest of Museum Drive—just beyond Anniston Museum & Berman Museum in Lagarde Park
(at the intersection of AL Hwys 21 & 431 in Anniston)

Gather as we announce the next phase of Anniston Museum Complex—Longleaf Botanical Gardens on the site of the former Lenlock Community Center.

Anniston Museum volunteers and staff will share plans of this much anticipated project, plus provide information on how you can participate.

The Project Begins Soon

We need your help to get our garden growing and building glowing. Here are our needs:

Volunteering

A large spectrum of volunteer efforts will be needed—

- from gardeners (experienced, and those willing to learn)
- to carpenters and handymen—and women
- to lawn maintenance and landscapers
- to painters and plumbers

Giving

“Seed money” is needed immediately for necessary basic garden equipment & tools, plants, mulch, and more. Funding is also welcomed for supplies and equipment to refresh the facility.

Spreading the Word

Help us get this exciting idea to the community by sharing information with your friends and associates

- Check us out at www.longleafbotanicalgardens.org
- Become a Facebook Fan <http://www.facebook.com/pages/Anniston-AL/Longleaf-Botanical-Gardens/114886971870319>
- Visit our blog for the latest news & announcements <http://longleafbotanicalgardens.blogspot.com/>
- Inform and invite gardening friends or garden clubs

The time has come for this long-awaited botanical garden.

The framework is ready: Lagarde Park features beautiful walking trails and native plantings. Museum grounds already bloom with tropical and native plants. Undeveloped acreage within the park, often unseen by the visitor, encompasses beautifully serene wooded areas. Property immediately surrounding the Lenlock Community Center structure features varied elevations and fields ready for planting. The building is poised to be transformed into orientation and programming space.

